

Premium Compost

Premium Compost feeds your soil with plant ready nutrients and high quality carbon that gets beneficial soil biology working to drive growth and protect your plants from stress, pests and disease. Premium is a dual purpose soil conditioner and fine mulch that activates your soil with nutrient rich organic carbon to create a powerful medium for growing high performance crops and professional landscape gardens.

Benefits

Powerful effects on soil for several growing cycles.

Improves soil water infiltration.

One system to feed growth and protect the soil.

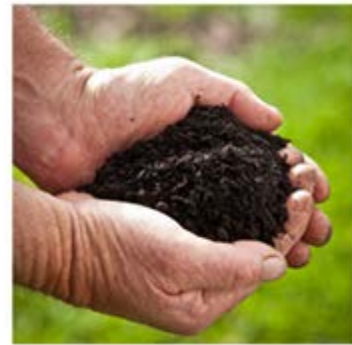

Creates soils conditions that support rigorous root development.

Improves nutrient availability, significantly reducing fertiliser use.

Activates soil biology to feed and protect plants naturally.

Application

C-Wise Premium can be incorporated into the topsoil to build structure and feed plant growth or top dressed as a soil feeder and protective mulch. On large scale treatment areas, Premium can be broadcast through a conventional belt spreader and incorporated mechanically into the soil before planting. In row crop applications, Premium can be precision banded and incorporated direct into the planting row or banded as feeding mulch either side of the planting line. For smaller treatment areas, Premium can be manually spread and incorporated into soil or applied as mulch around plants.
